ABSTRACT

A computer based system and method for creating a standardized or normalized resume format, extracting resume information from the normalized resume, and automatically inputting the resume information into a resume database.

5